

UA elections set for March 28

By Gabriel Esiku

Uganda Athletics (UA) will on Saturday, March 28 hold its elective general assembly to choose office bearers for the next four-year term.

The elections will take place at Namboole Stadium under the supervision of returning officer Kenneth Robert Kitariko.

"Preparations are progressing well, and we are on course to conduct the elections on the scheduled date of March 28. We are currently in the final stages of vetting candidates based on their applications," Kitariko said. Speaking to Vision Sport, Kitariko revealed that the election roadmap began from March 7-17 with the call for nominations.

Candidate nominations ran from March 17-19, while the official list of candidates is set to be published on March 20.

The exercise will cover key executive positions, including president, first vice president, second vice president, general secretary, deputy general secretary, treasurer, organising secretary, and publicity secretary.

During the last Annual General assembly held on February 9, incumbent president Dominic Otucet confirmed his intention to seek re-election.

Otucet, who has led the federation since 2010, first joined the executive in 1999 as treasurer before rising to vice presidency in 2002.
