
Our LC system has been a failure

Ugandans will soon vote LC 1 and 2 leaders. Obviously, the National Resistance Movement and the Opposition will be hoping to get as many leaders at the grassroots as possible. But we must note that the LC system has failed to deliver.

We have had LC1 and 2 for many years, but apart from the chairpersons, the other members of the councils are useless.

If we look at LC2, it is not even heard of and it seems they do nothing. I then doubt if the local government minister knows the roles of LC2.

For the LC1, it is only the chairpersons active and these have narrowed their minds to signing documents and land sale agreements in their respective areas. LC1 chairperson behave like land dealers in their areas.

The local government ministry should have carried out a research to find out why the system failed to deliver before authorising elections. They should have thought of a better system for Uganda.

For God and my country
