...between Ugandans and South ... demanded that Kampala ... Master Blaster.

COURT RULES ON LATE KASIWUKIRA'S PROPERTY

BY MICHAEL ODENG

Court has granted the children of slain city businessman Eria Ssebunya Bugembe, popularly known as Kasiwukira, authority to acquire letters of administration to manage their father's estate.

The High Court Family Division Judge, Alexandra Nkonge Rugadya, ordered the Administrator General (AG) to issue letters of administration to the deceased's children recently.

This follows an application by the Kasiwukira's children — Eron Ssebunya, Claire Naggayi Ssebunya and their paternal uncle, John Ggayi Bugembe, seeking a court order for grant of letters of administration.

Letters of administration are legal documents appointing a manager of assets and liabilities of an estate of a deceased.

Kasiwukira is survived by a widow, Sarah Nabikolo and five children.

Nabikolo together with her sister Sandra Nakungu and Police constable, Ashraf Jaden are currently detained at Luzira Prisons in connection to the murder of Kasiwukira.

Kasiwukira was knocked dead by a speeding car as he jogged in the morning on October 17, 2014 at about 6:00am in Muyenga Kampala.

Speaking to the New Vision, lawyer Sekabanja Kato said they obtained a 'certificate of no objection" from the AG since the will left by deceased was not valid because it was incomplete.

He said the children and the brother of the late held a consultative meeting with family members and they were entrusted to seek legal rights to manage the estate.

Kasiwukira was the deputy treasurer of the Kwagalana group (a group of successful men). He began his business empire by duplicating and selling music cassette tapes with a brand name KASE, which were sold in the 1980s.

Scanned with CamScanner