KAMPALA. After receiving news of excellent performance Pison Mutabarura, 19, shouted in excitement: "My hard work didn't go to waste".

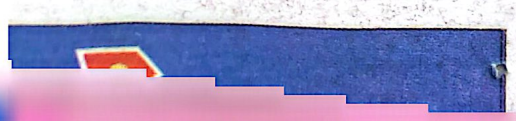

Mutabarura, who has been a student at Plus Two High School in rural Bushenyi, scored 20 points dispelling the notion that rural schools cannot excel. He scored A in Physics, A in Chemistry and A in Mathematics with a credit two in general paper.

He says the challenges of studying in a rural school were many but this "just gave me the energy to work".

He plans to study electrical engineering at Makerere University.
