

Ambulance kills Tororo farmer

BY JOSEPH OMOLLO

editorial@ug.nationmedia.com

TORORO. An ambulance in the convoy of Ms Annette Nyaketcho, a candidate for Tororo North County parliamentary seat, at the weekend veered off the road, killing Lobina Akware, 54.

Bukedi region police spokesperson Micheal Odongo said the accident happened in Ogiroi Village, Mukuju Sub-county.

How it happened

"The late was in her garden at around 3pm when the ambulance driver lost control and knocked her to death," he said.

Mr Odongo said area residents turned rowdy and smashed all the car's wind-screens before the police dispersed them.

Ms Nyaketcho is the incumbent Woman Member of Parliament for Otuke District and is contesting against Mr Geoffrey Ekanya.