

and reject letters. For correspondence, including e-mails and SMSs, must be sent to the following number. Preference will be given to shorter letters on topical issues.

Write to: PO Box 12141 Kampala Email: letters@ug.nation

Bunyoro is tired of empty promises

The ruling government for the past 30 years has made several promises to the people of Bunyoro. Sadly, very few have been fulfilled.

The government for the past many years has been promising to construct Mubende -Kakumiro-Kibaale up to Kagadi roads but to date the construction has not started. President Museveni was in the area on January 22 but he still did not launch the road and yet we thought he would.

The poor transport network from Kagadi to Mubende is a hindrance to development. It is hard for farmers to transport their produce.

Even reaching health facilities is a problem. In addition, the government also promised electricity.

The electricity promise was fulfilled but only in the trading centres leaving the villages without.

Brian Aheebwa

LETTERS

There

In the recent past, the government has sought to do a lot of things and has been promising to do more. The government has been promising to do more and has been promising to do more. The government has been promising to do more and has been promising to do more.

Democracy is a broad concept, encompassing the principles of free and fair elections, the rule of law, and the protection of human rights. The government has been promising to do more and has been promising to do more.

The standard of living in the country is often a reflection of the quality of the government's performance. The government has been promising to do more and has been promising to do more.

Elections are a key feature of democracy, and the government has been promising to do more and has been promising to do more.