For instance, authorised drivers of emergency vehicles such as ambulances, may disregard any regulation governing direction of movement or turning in a specified direction,

Chief Justice, Speaker of Parliament, Prime minister or a police vehicle or other emergency vehicle in a state motorcade, is allowed in case of emergency or in other cases as prescribed, to deviate from the traffic traffic police and other traffic enforcement officers just look on when the right of way is abused. This kind of impunity should be stopped.

Special needs children want help to sharpen their skills

The Primary Schools National Athletics and Special Needs Education (SNE) Championship held on Monday at Apac Primary School in Apac District, is a living testimony that children with special education needs can do anything an able-bodied person can do. All they need is the right support at the right time to enable them sharpen their skills in order to be at the finishing line.

I congratulate Arua Girls' Athletics Team that lifted the trophy for SNE Girls slot. The team comprises refugee children, among others, supported by Finn Church Aid (FCA) under UNHCR Partnership from Bidibidi Refugee Settlement. This great achievement shifts the attention from complaining to God why He created these children to yearning to do more for them. By this success, it is evident that God already did His part and endowed the children with talents that need our support.

As the name suggests, SNE is a costly and most challenging component of education with endless list of special requirements that include boarding facilities, fencing, feeding, and braille materials.

The costs are exacerbated in a situation where the unit schools are far away.

This complicates matters, including visitation by parents that is a key tenet of Community Involvement in Education (CIE), which serves to morale boost children and enhance their retention. However, the lasting solution is to have a nearby unit school.

This is the preoccupation of FCA that is spearheading and rallying support towards realisation of this dream. God bless Persons with Special Needs and those who devote their resources to support them.
