

Create awareness on climate change

In response to the story 'Trump connivance with the rich won't stop climate change cause' (Daily Monitor, August 10), I want to say that climate change is real, and is directly related to environmental degradation.

I think the effects of this are evident in each and every one's face to see. Whereas each soul on this globe has a role to play, the reality is far from the truth. While the big men are fighting and dissenting, we need to place a lot of emphasis on individual responsibility. By this, we can create awareness for that kavera or plastic bottle dropped by the roadside both of which are bad for environment.
