

regional news
policy

Farmers get Shs1.2b irrigation scheme

Rice farmers in Bugiri district can now grow the crop throughout the year after receiving a Shs1.2b irrigation scheme. The scheme built by government through the ministry of water and environment will be handed over to the farmers later this year.

The scheme constructed in Iwemba sub-county is to ensure constant supply of water for production to small scale farmers in order to increase food production in the district.

Azalwa Malijani, the Bugiri District LCV chairperson commended the project and advised the community to make use of the facility to ensure that their households are food secure.

es

Leonard Mukooli